

around us. We, as human beings, are part of the environment. We are affected by the environment, but we also affect it and changing it